This PN action organ was installed in this post war church by Hall & Bradfield of Arnold Street Hull, in 1964. Its history is unconfirmed but is thought to be an amalgamation of parts from several organs,

It is not an altogether successful installation though it is in a fair and playable condition.

The original blower has been inadequate for many years and this is at present supplemented by a loan blower which is not part of this offer.

The organ is placed behind a grill at the front of the church with the console in a slightly sunken position some 20 yards up the main church.

The organ is now redundant due to plans for re-ordering, and is immediately available.

Enquiries and expressions of interest are invited to the church contact.

It is offered free subject to the recipient agreeing to retain it in whole.

Buyer makes all arrangements for dismantling, packing and transport.
